

Sam Ho, MD
EVP, Chief Medical Officer

Dr. Sam Ho is currently Chief Medical Officer for UnitedHealthcare, UnitedHealth Group's health benefits division, and is responsible for the clinical, cost, and experience outcomes of 50 million UnitedHealthcare consumers throughout the U.S., including enrollees in commercial, Medicare, Medicaid, and military health plans. He is the clinical executive specifically responsible for the execution of UHC's integrated value strategy—including value-based provider payment programs, delivery system transformation, innovative population health management, advanced data and analytics, and consumer engagement and value-based benefits.